Today is not yesterday: we ourselves change; how can our Works and Thoughts, if they are always to be the fittest, continue always the same?
Change, indeed, is painful; yet ever needful; and if Memory have its force and worth, so also has Hope. Carlyle Essays: Characteristics.

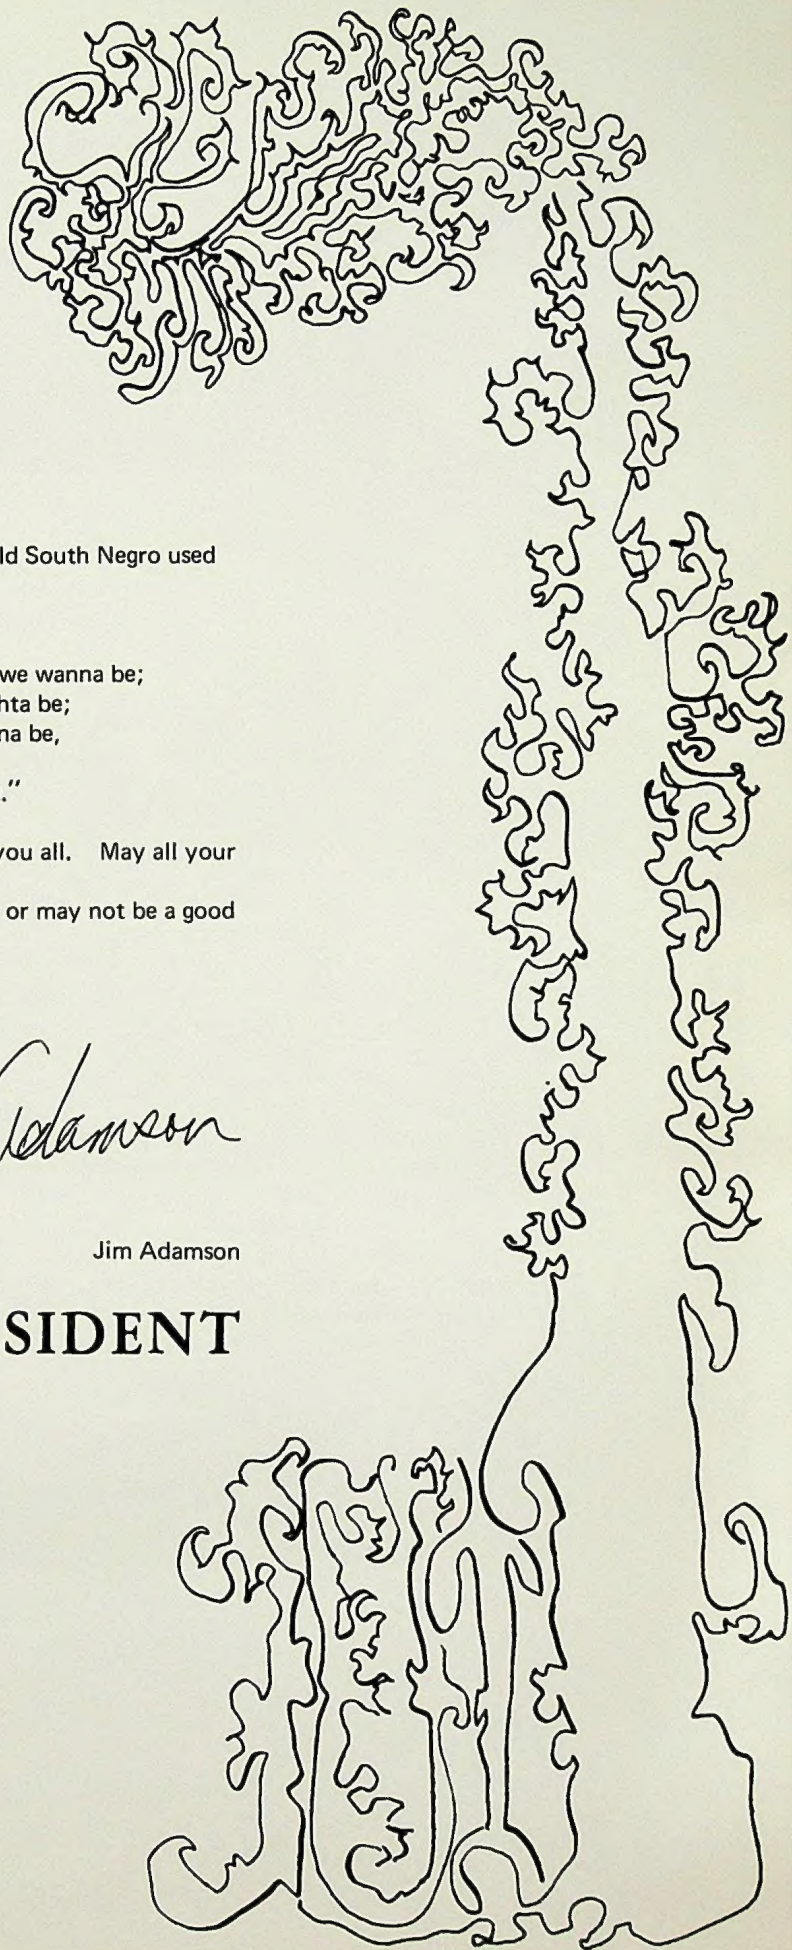

with a great tearing of wrinkled flesh the butterfly unfolds its wings. and goes on his day's journey.

the human crowd. each little lost soul charges forlornly. down the hall to the exit. everybody thunders down the hall. to the little door at the end. soul fragments race madly with the others. some begin to fight their way back. to be pushed on again. by the others behind. some scratch at the walls. but they won't give. why. so everyone can scurry on to the little door.

the door opens and each little soul steps off into nothing. soon to be forgotten by those who won't forget.

SAVOI NOW AT

EDITOR

After the emancipation, one Old South Negro used to pray:

"Lord, we ain't what we wanna be;
We ain't what we oughta be;
We ain't what we gonna be,
But thank you Lord,
We ain't what we wuz."

Thanks and Good Fortune to you all. May all your dreams come true - which may or may not be a good thing.

Centennial Year is now history. It was an exciting year. Many of you visited Expo and saw parts of Canada foreign to you. Many of you were involved in various Centennial projects. The Centennial Year has had a tremendous impact on one and all, either directly or indirectly.

What about the next hundred years? Undoubtedly the progress in the next century will be as great as the progress since 1867. You will be a part of that progress. You are living in an exciting age. It is an age which has made trips in space commonplace and a trip to the moon well within the realm of possibility. It is also a dangerous age. Materialistic ambitions, racial unrest, political turmoil and threats and alarms of war are commonplace. Yet this age, with its many problems, is ever so much better than the "good old days". News media emphasize the violence, the bizarre and the strange with the result that our views can be distorted unless we keep our feet on the ground.

Young people today are essentially idealistic. They follow fads and enthusiasms as young people always have and always will. There is a small element in society that solve problems by refusing to face them. In one age they are hobos, in another they are hippies. Their contribution to society is minimal and their help in solving society's problems nonexistent. For every one of these, there are hundreds of young people who feel that their best service to society is to get an education and achieve to the best of their ability.

Remember, the future belongs to the youth of today and if the youth represented in the following pages of this book are a fair example of Canada's youth, our fears for the future should be allayed.

Youth is a time to dream, to plan, to hope, to aspire, toward a worthwhile goal. To the graduates of '68, to whom this book is dedicated; follow our school motto

Many years before Confederation, traders and adventurers of the Hudson's Bay Company helped to shape the history of Canada through exploration and settlement. Since the establishment of the Bay's first department stores — Winnipeg in 1881 and Edmonton in 1890 — the Bay has progressed with the country. Today, 100 years after Confederation, the Bay still serves Canadians in its continuing tradition of quality. Your satisfaction is assured when you shop at the Bay.

NEWS for TEENS

No one can say that today's teens aren't "up" on the news and views — they read The Edmonton Journal.

Check the news headlines and stories to keep abreast of happenings locally and abroad . . . you'll find you're "in the know" in your crowd and you'll find you're better informed when classwork calls for background knowledge of world events.

On Friday you'll find the Teen Page of special interest, with a round-up of school news, weekly stories by high-school correspondents and regular teen features like The Scene and Teen Top Ten.

EXECUTIVE

UNITED NATIONS CLUB

The noble purpose of United Nations Club is to foster understanding and tolerance of the world and its people. There are also a number of material projects - such as supporting adopted children overseas, and collecting educational materials for needy foreign schools.

CAMPUS LIFE CLUB

An environment that permits good Christian fellowship is created by the Campus Life club. Films and lectures provide worthwhile diversion.

BOOSTER CLUB

The Booster Club generates bubbly, effervescent school spirit, and has a great time in the process.

LIBRARY CLUB

The Library Club serves the school by helping to keep the library running efficiently and by encouraging students to make full use of this facility. In a continuing campaign to promote general student awareness, this group also sponsors lectures on a wide range of topics.

GLEE CLUB

There are some people that take sheer pleasure in singing. Everyone benefits from the entertainment they provide.

YOUNG SOPHISTICATES

The main purpose of the Young Sophisticates is to make its members more polished individuals. Interests in grooming, dress, etiquette, speech, and social poise are encouraged and cultivated. In addition to this, the club takes on varied charity projects.

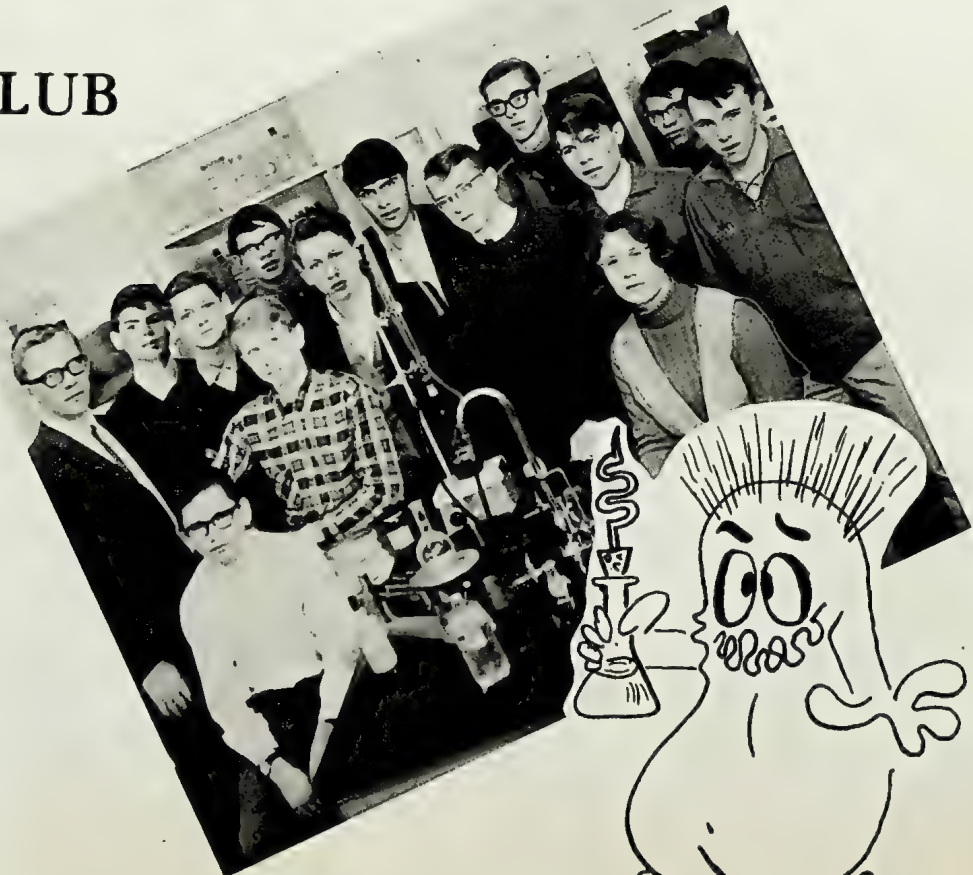

PHOTO CLUB

Camera bugs abound in Q.E. The Photo Club gives them an opportunity to learn new techniques, develop their films at a discount, while refining the art, and compare their results with others.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club encourages an active interest in science, and gives its members a chance to experiment and go beyond the limits of class work.

ART CLUB

The objective of the Art Club is to promote free-thinking, and self-expression. Membership is not limited by any conventional definition or artistic ability. Highlights of the past year included a major art contest (entries still adorn the walls of Rosslyn's Pizza Plenty), a rather messy study of acrylic painting (water colors in a plastic base), and the 'production' of a conscious-expanding film. Sounds constructively cool, doesn't it?

Chess is the pastime of the intellectual. Frequent mortal combat over a chess board keeps members of the Chess Club ALERT!

CHESS CLUB

SCHOOL BAND

The school band adds a brighter note to most functions in the school. It is composed mostly of students of the music department, but any student with basic musical knowledge is welcome.

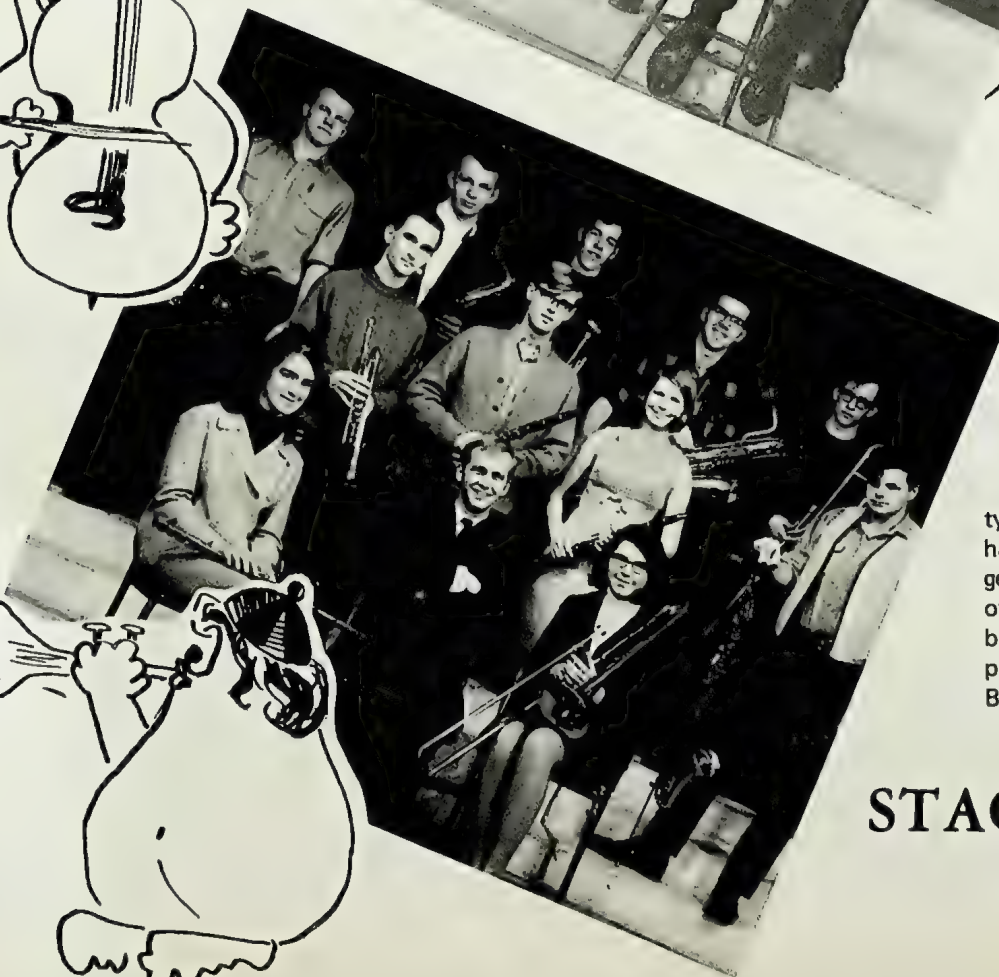

ORCHESTRA

FOLK SINGING CLUB

Without sacrificing its inherent beauty and humour, folk music has become a potent medium of social comment. The folk club provides a worthy outlet for students interested in this type of expression.

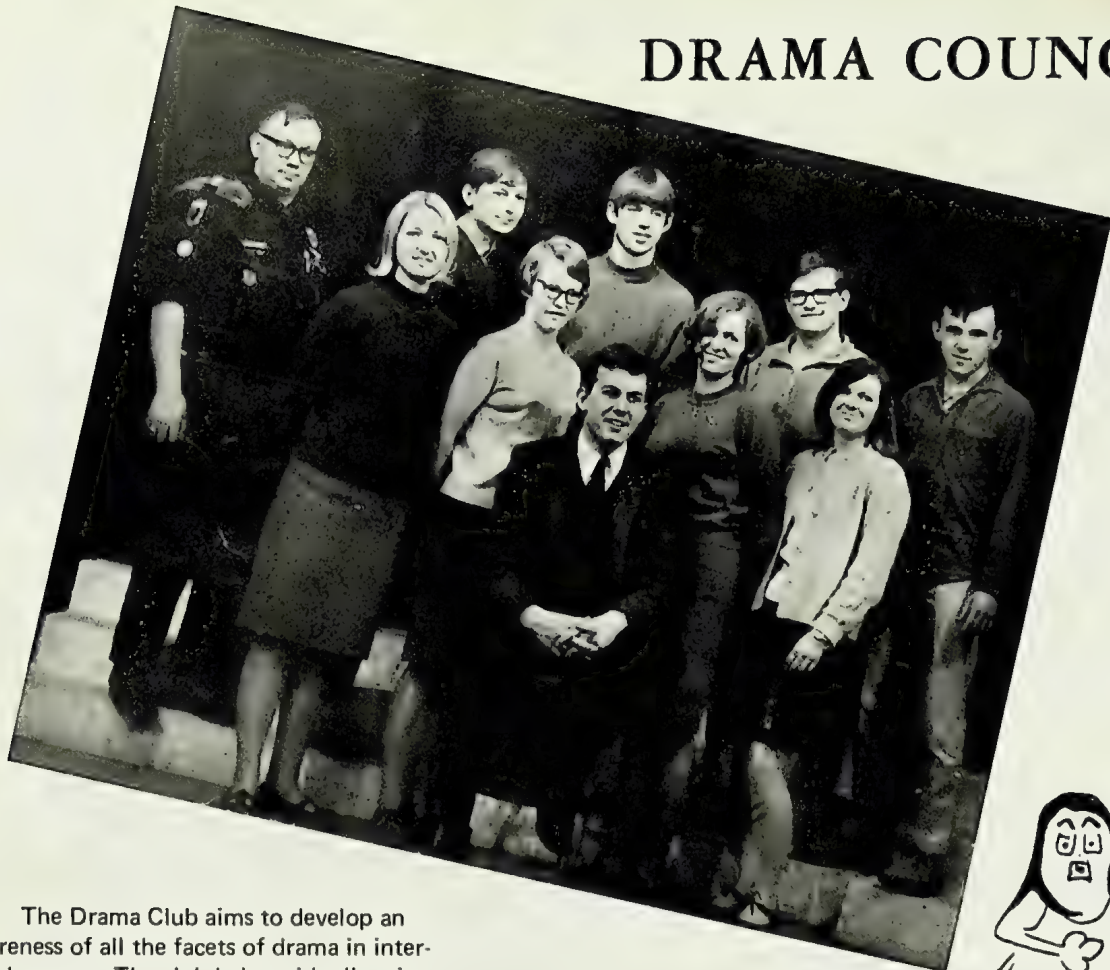

Hear that guitar? . . .

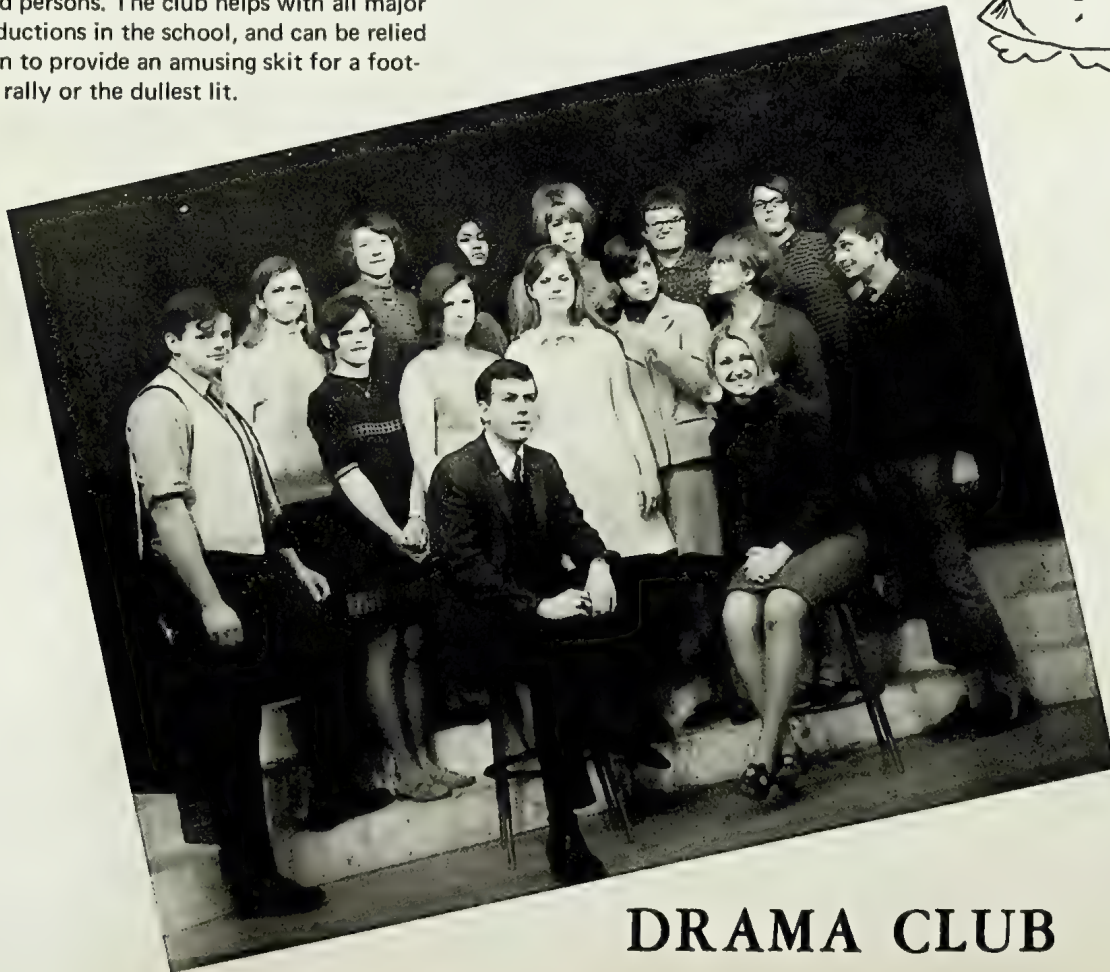

A fresh, snappy type of music that has been known to get football rallies off the ground and brighten up 'lits' is played by the Stage Band. Dig It.

STAGE BAND

DRAMA COUNCIL

The Drama Club aims to develop an awareness of all the facets of drama in interested persons. The club helps with all major productions in the school, and can be relied upon to provide an amusing skit for a football rally or the dullest lit.

DRAMA CLUB

MY THREE ANGELS

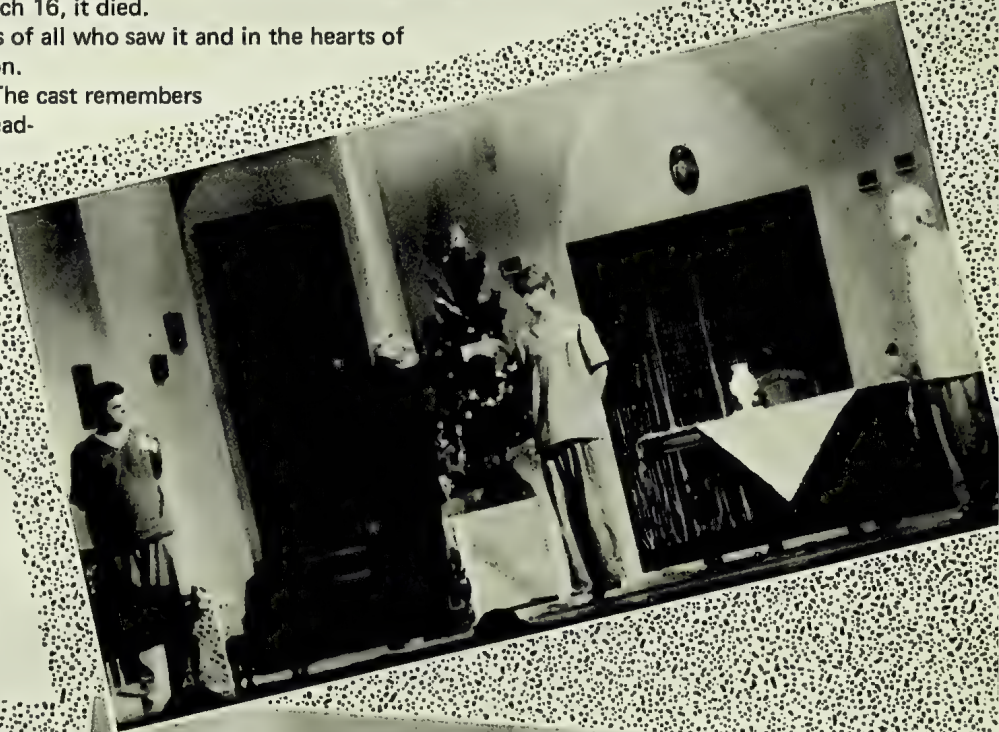

As I write this I am sitting on the stage near a huge pile of stairs, walls, and a chicken coup with two hens. There are the remnants of a stage set that is no more, for a play that is no more.

Where did it go? On Thursday, March 14, MY THREE ANGELS, presented by the Drama Club was born. On Saturday, March 16, it died.

Over? No, not in the minds of all who saw it and in the hearts of those who were part of its creation.

All who saw it remember. The cast remembers a script, remembers a rank first reading, remembers racing to finish homework. The managers remember staying up late to make sure the walls didn't collapse, remembering frantically gathering props, remember slowly tearing them down and remember publicity, and planning meetings at which only the chairmen were present. With my back against the chicken coup and my arm on the remnants of a door, I wonder how many of those who were part of this production will be part of the next.

PIONEER DAY

On our 4th successful Pioneer Day, Queen E's halls were once more transfixed into the streets of an 18th century Western Town. Her people wore the clothes of their forefathers and strolled past the jail, church and general stores.

During the noon sock hop, the "pioneers" swung to the modern beat of Willie and the Walkers.

Disguised as a beautiful girl, Jim Keefe took the boys costume prize and Allison Donaghey (more striking, inspite of Jim's rouge) won the girls.

BAND-BEAT

This year, the students of Q.E. have been in a good position to view, firsthand, a cross-section of Edmonton's rock scene. Live entertainment has ranged from the survey-stylings of Willie and the Walkers and the Southbound Freeway, through the underground music of the Raga Mood, and down to the miscellaneous performances of various less-famed groups. Almost every second week, the main gym has been filled with pre-meditated sound. And amidst the buffeting beat, the pulsating rhythm, and the free-form guitar and organ wail of psychedelia, the student body grooved. And departed from their normal course of impassiveness with cries of, "Sock it to me! Sock it to me! Sock it to me!"

CHRISTMAS

Maybe it was the fire-baton twirler, or perhaps the graceful ballerina who floated about the barren blue stage. Maybe it was the Hawaiian hoola dancer.

But then it could even have been our country folk teachers entertaining us on their jugs and scrub boards, or Harold Bell playing the roll of Mrs. Clooney.

Could it have been the folk club singing, "There was blood on the saddle"? Whatever it was, the Lit left everyone in excellent humor - and what better way could there be to start the Christmas holidays.

THOMAS ST. JAMES

People called him Thomas -
Thomas St. James -
To her he was just Thomas
(he had no other names).
His hair was long, unruly,
Wonderful to touch,
And though he never loved her
She loved him very much.
Thomas used to meet her
Where the roses grew,
She'd be his queen for another night -
No one ever knew.
Thomas was a fire
He ravaged through her heart
'Til it lay scorched and bleeding
Yet from him she could not part.
One sad day she left him,
He did not see her go,
How she ever managed
No one'll ever know.
Before that week was over
She had to be by his side,
She returned, only to find That her Thomas St. James had died.
People said it was suicide or murder
But she agreed with neither part
For deep inside she believed
He had died from a broken heart.
People soon forgot him
He was lost among other names
And beside his grave lies another - Of the mistress of Thomas St. James.

BECAUSE

Why does truth filter so slowly through?
Because man had made the Holes very small.

Why does love blossom short, and die?
Because the gardeners on earth
Forgot to water the flower.

Why do men weep for the fate of the world?
Because they are too weak to Pull their handkerchiefs from their pockets.

IN THE TEMPLE OF INDECISION

The ghost of Athena watches. Her eyes beset by young girls. Their pulse racing, jumping, dying. Old men
with white beards stroke black cats with shining eyes.

The bartender's daughter
is cold and sick.
Her birds are yellow.
Procne is angry. Her son has blond hair.
The dove will not wait 'til spring.
Tell the milkman to go home.

Black Beard and Drake
drank beer at the Oxtail.
The bartender's daughter is sick and cold. Ask the wind to blow the sea high. Or let the moon shine over the water. The ghost of Athena watches.

Close the door, it's cold out.

DE LIBERTATE

In the sunken twilight of a million suns burns the aqueous liquid of a thousand volatile minds, pulsating
to the incendiary, spasms
of azure blood
and reek of blissful consummation.
Divine institutions and universal laws
prohibiting the free,
enchancing the happy
Blue birds on waxen wings,
slipping through the hair
and landing in the golden fields of corn.
Fly, birds, fly.
There is no room for you here
the farmer comes.
This field is his,
no room for you.

Great feathered masts,
Dorian columns
pricking the temple of the sky.
Brown and yellow umbrellas drifting in the breeze.
fanning of piney scent, laden with sweet tastes of exhilarated sap and dripping streams, tunneling through the nostrils of the world
undulating in the bowels of the earth, surrounded by a steel wire fence,
laden with the immortal words:

LIFE TIME

In time,
The snows fall,

GLASS

The sudden sounding of footsteps,
Harsh words; a lost temper,
The clatter of breaking glass;
Glass
Small running feet;

Pain, and a cry;
Blood.
Glass pierced the thigh.

No cry of pain;
Blood.

AS A MATTER OF INTEREST

Have you ever waked up early in the morning -
And actually smelled the sweetness of the dew
Freshly painted on the grass?
Or - have you, in the winter, touched the early morning frost?
The tingling numbness of your fingertips?

LITTLE GIRL

Don't be afraid,
To run and hide away;
Where tears can fall.
Little girl, you're young enough
To know tears and shame.
Yet not too old to heal the hurt again.
You may wait for love,
But it doesn't seem to come
Look it over, before your life is done.
Don't think "I want to die."
Life is giving,
Life is receiving.
But most of all life is you.
Don't believe in fantasy,
Life is real;
Something to believe.

CALMNESS. . . .

A cloud
dark, deeply saturated swoops down on Calmness and - wipes it out

From a corner, the sun stretches out and brightness
overcomes DARKNESS -
patterns of light dance
and -
Calmness is all about.

Yvonne Kriezenbeck

"A little piece of bread? "
His thin harsh voice cried.
"A little piece of bread
So I can survive? "

No one will know that lonesome cry
But that young man passing by.

Laurel Arndt.

THE DRINKERS

"Joe! Joe! " she screamed out. It was too late. He had already gone. She could have followed him for she knew where he would go. It wouldn't do any good. Once he got together with his friends in that barroom he would be gone for the day; maybe for the night. She couldn't really blame him. After six days of sweating in the field he just wanted to relax. She knew she shouldn't bother him on his day off, but it was just that she didn't see much of him any more. He'd get up early every morning and go to work. He wouldn't get home before night; dead tired. She would feed him and he would go to bed. He didn't say much. It had been this way a long time; ever since they moved onto that plantation.

A cloak of purple velvet
Drapes o'er the fading sun
Whose tears have washed the smokey sky
And made the colors run,
A thin shred of laughter
Fading with the light
Making room for other things -
The coming of the night,
The queen with pomp and gaiety
Begins her hearty sleep
While the king and all her followers
Their nightly watch do keep,
And all the lowly creatures
The stars up in the sky
Watch and wait and listen for
The embers of night to die.

SPORTS

SENIOR FOOTBALL

Our senior team had a great season ending up second in the eastern division. The team had great spirit - overwhelming after the games - with many outstanding players. Brian Blatherwick, quarterback, was not only selected as a Journal All-star but was offered a football scholarship at Simon Fraser University, B.C. Bill Hiney led the Eastern Division in yards rushing and Gord Wilson led in the party throwing department for the team.

JUNIOR FOOTBALL

The juniors had an exceptional season - they won the city championship. During the season the team won seven out of their eight games and in the play-offs they beat Ross Sheppard and then went on to beat O'Leary Spartans 1 - 0 in the final game. Credit goes to the strict regulations of Coach Hayes.

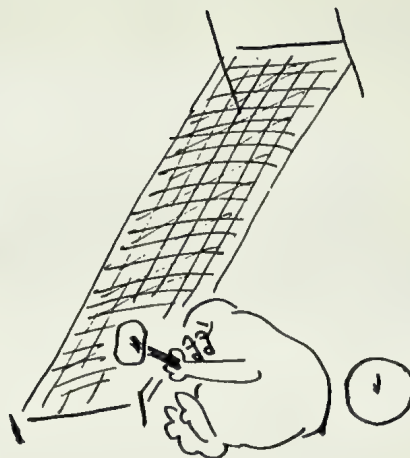

SENIOR FOOTBALL TEAM

Football

SENIOR VOLLEYBALL

Try as they might, the boys couldn't get going and they lost all 16 games. Credit goes to Brian Duquette for his effort in the game and in trying to get boys to try out for the team.

JUNIOR VOLLEYBALL

This season, although under tough Coach Wintermute, the boys managed to win only 7 out of 15 games. They did end up in 3rd place in the conference but lost out in the play-offs.

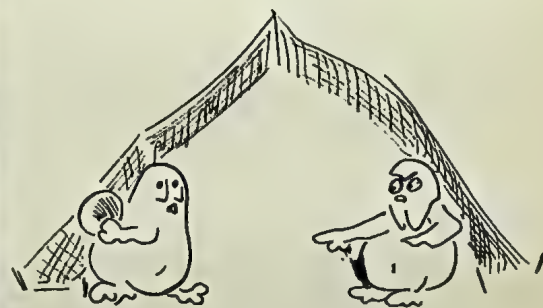

SENIOR VOLLEYBALL

The volleyball team did quite well this season. The girls were very energetic, practising until 6 o'clock under the supervision of Miss Millar. The results were quite good - they won 22 out of 30 games and ended up in 3rd place.

JUNIOR VOLLEYBALL

The juniors didn't do so well this season but did manage to win a few games. Although they didn't win many games, the girls had fun at practice especially the ones with the junior boys. They won 13 out of 30 games during the season.

SENIOR BASKETBALL

The girls put on a good show through the season. They won 4 out of 4 games. At the end of the season, a four-way tie for first place ended the girls winning streak as they lost in the conference play-offs.

JUNIOR BASKETBALL

The junior girls' season was almost a duplicate of the seniors. They won 3 out of 3 games - not a very long season. The girls also were defeated in division finals.

SENIOR BASKETBALL

This year was definitely a year for rebuilding the seniors. Unable to get a start, they lost all 12 games of the season but still managed to provide many thrilling games. The last game of the season was lost 48 - 47 as Harvey Rubliak missed a jump shot with 4 seconds left in the game. The season wasn't too successful but it was fun.

JUNIOR BASKETBALL

Another record fell at Queen E. this season - Coach Hayes and his Junior Knights won the city championship. That's two championship teams for Coach Hayes this season. Lead by Walter Bauer, who played one game for the seniors and scored 12 points, the juniors lost only 2 games all season. Those practices till 6 p.m. really paid off in a big way for the team. Next year should be a big year for basketball at Queen Elizabeth.

CURLING CLUB

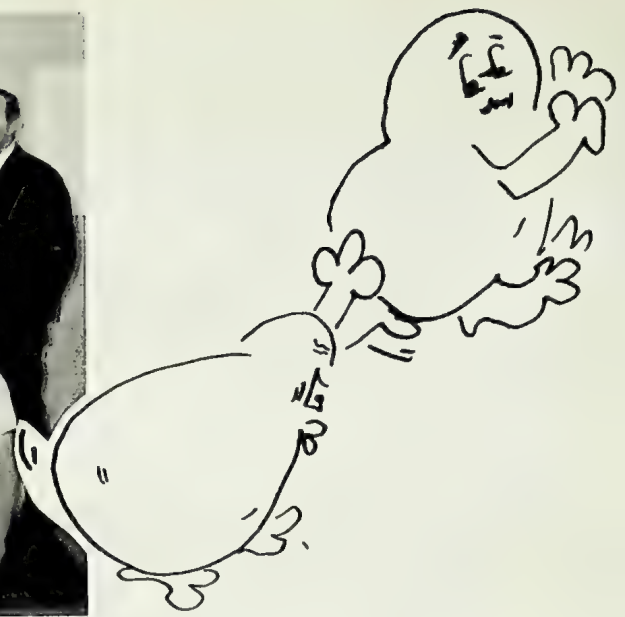

The Curling Club gives students addicted to this sport a chance to develop their skill through practise and competition.

SKI CLUB

Promotion of skiing among students is the objective of the Ski Club. Meetings at which skiing is discussed and films are shown, generate enthusiasm. Safety talks are given by members of the Edmonton Ski Club Patrol. One of the highlights of the past year was a trip to Red Deer.

WRESTLING CLUB

Amateur wrestling (not to be confused with the practised chaos one sees on television) is a legitimate sport that demands physical fitness and promotes good sportsmanship. The wrestling club is composed of interested and capable students.

PING-PONG CLUB

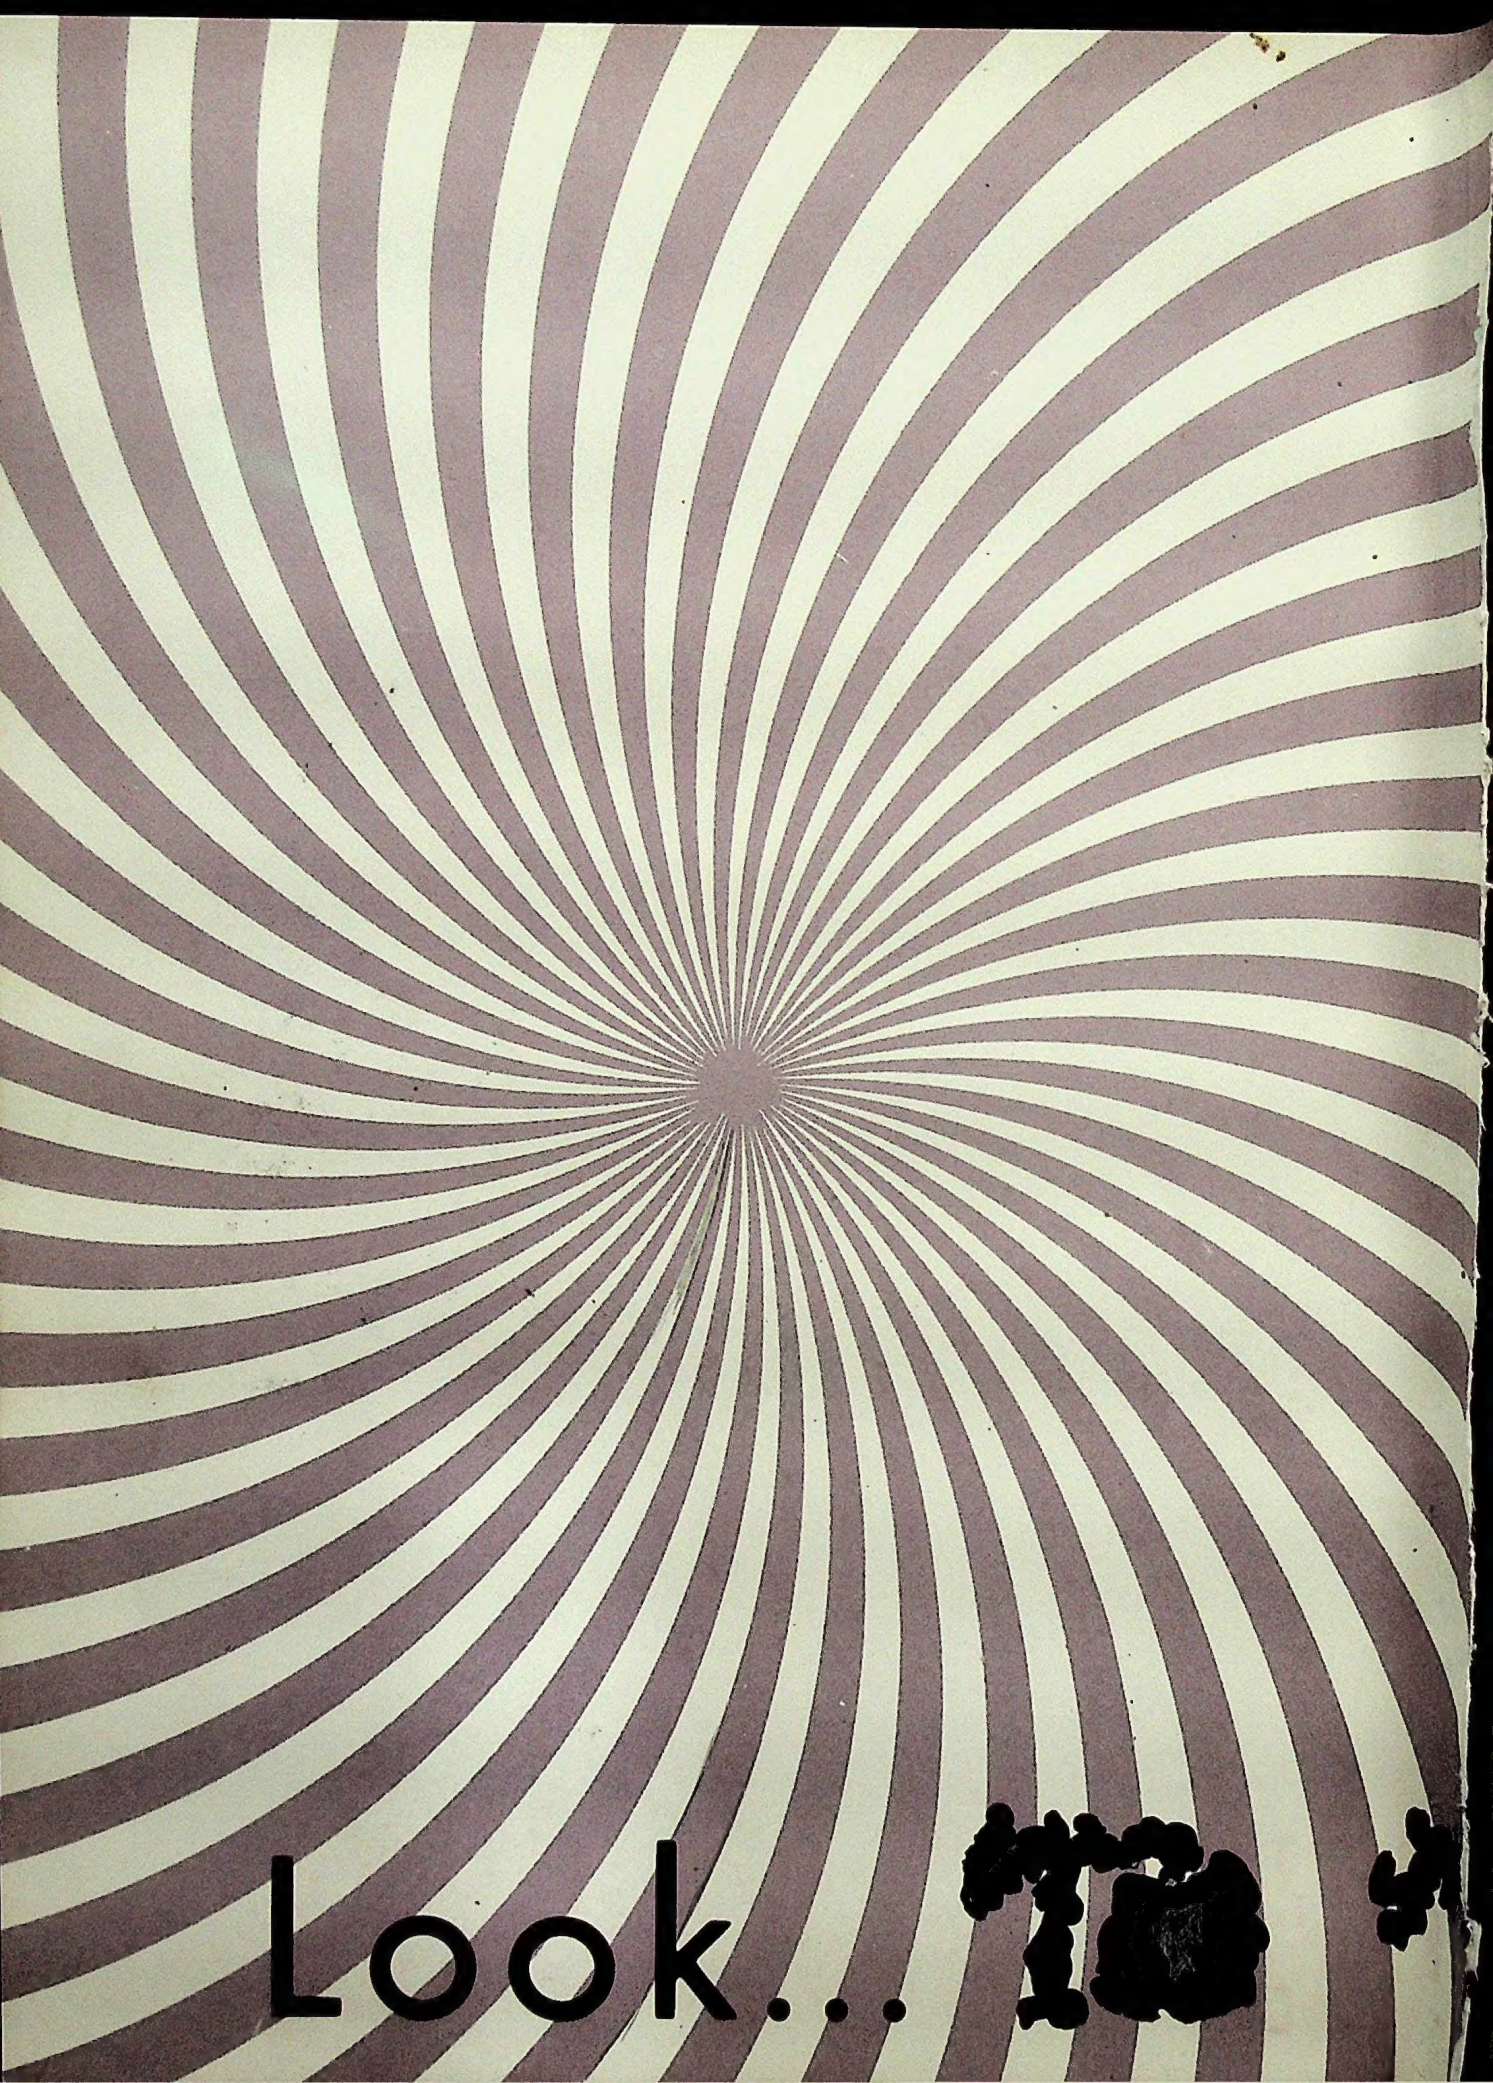

If you have established yourself as ping-pong champion within the confines of your rumpus room and are looking for new fields to conquer, try the Ping-Pong Club. Tomorrow it could be the world.
